

Directions: Combine each set of sentences so that the new sentence contains a compound predicate.

1. Claire planted roses in the garden. Claire planted tulips in the garden.

2. The moon is bright in the sky. The stars are bright in the sky.

3. My dog Max likes to lay in the couch. Max likes to run in circles, too.

4. Peter built a castle out of Legos. Peter built a pirate ship out of Legos.

5. Ron fell and scraped his knee. Ron fell and ripped his pants.

Directions: Rewrite each compound predicate sentence into two, separate sentences.

1. Julia painted an ocean scene and a desert scene.

2. McDonald's is selling a new bar-be-que sandwich and spicy fries.

3. Every winter at Cooper Hill we go sledding and tubing.

4. My favorite pizza is made with pepperoni and pineapple.

5. My family hangs tinsel and ribbons on our Christmas tree.