

Proper Adjectives

An adjective is a proper adjective if the first letter is always a capital. This occurs when the adjective refers to a specific person, place, country or group.

Australian, American, Asian, African, Mexican, English, Russian, Shakespearean, and Dickensian are all examples of proper adjectives.

1. Draw a line to link each of the places below to its corresponding proper adjective.

Georgia	Chinese	Bermudan	Georgian
Australia	Argentina	Libyan	Venezuela
Venezuealan	Nigeria	Cyprus	Nigerian
Zambian	Zambia	Libya	Bangladeshi
Bermuda	Austrian	Bangladesh	Austria
People's Republic of China	Argentinean	Chilean	Australian
	Cypriot
	Chile

2. Write the name of the continent where each place can be found.

Use an atlas if you have one.

- a) People's Republic of China _____
- b) Georgia _____
- c) Bangladesh _____
- d) Zambia _____
- e) Bermuda _____
- f) Venezuela _____
- g) Austria _____
- h) Chile _____
- i) Nigeria _____