

CORE VALUE CULTURES

There are many differences between the western world (USA, Canada, Europe) and other cultures. In terms of education, sport, food, and general culture, Americans and other countries/cultures are different. Sports is particularly true. They have different preferences. American sports focus on individual success (e.g., Pro Football, Basketball, etc.) while other cultures are more team-oriented. In Spain, there are concepts and activities that are not found in other cultures, such as bullfighting, and they have a different way of celebrating. Americans are more individualistic and they have a different way of celebrating. Americans are more individualistic and they have a different way of celebrating.
