

Descriptive Writing – Brainstorming

Think of a scary situation that you would like to describe. Use a couple of sentences to describe the idea.

My Scary Idea:

Now that you have described the idea, think of as many descriptive words to describe the idea using the five senses.

The Details:

a.) Sight

b.) Sound

c.) Touch

d.) Smell

e.) Taste

Rough Copy

In a descriptive paragraph, the topic sentence gives the main impression of the scene, object, or person. The supporting sentences give the sensory details that lead to the main impression. These details are usually arranged in a logical, spatial sequence (e.g., top to bottom, left to right). The concluding sentence summarizes or emphasizes the overall impression.
