

Scenario: Personalization

Suppose you are an advertiser for the following three services. In each case, you are interested in advertising to a specific demographic group. For each demographic group, you are interested in advertising to that group in each of the three services. You are interested in advertising to that group in each of the three services. You are interested in advertising to that group in each of the three services.

Suppose you are an advertiser for the following three services. In each case, you are interested in advertising to a specific demographic group. For each demographic group, you are interested in advertising to that group in each of the three services. You are interested in advertising to that group in each of the three services.

Suppose you are an advertiser for the following three services. In each case, you are interested in advertising to a specific demographic group. For each demographic group, you are interested in advertising to that group in each of the three services. You are interested in advertising to that group in each of the three services.

Suppose you are an advertiser for the following three services. In each case, you are interested in advertising to a specific demographic group. For each demographic group, you are interested in advertising to that group in each of the three services. You are interested in advertising to that group in each of the three services.