

Sherlock Holmes arrives with Dr. Watson to investigate the murder of Charles McCarthy	The main suspect was McCarthy's son, James. Holmes did not believe that the son was guilty	Witness reported seeing Charles McCarthy went to the pool and later James followed carrying a gun. Another witness saw them having an argument.	Holmes investigates the crime scene and finds a stone which is the murder weapon. He also found the boots mark.
Holmes deduces that the real murderer is a tall man, left-handed, limps on his right leg and smokes Indian cigar which is John Turner.	John Turner then confessed to Holmes and explains that in Australia he was a robber with name "Black Jack of Ballarat." McCarthy knows his past and blackmailed him. Turner then killed Charles McCarthy using stone	Sherlock Holmes promises to keep John Turner's confession as a secret as long as James was found not guilty	John Turner passed away 7 months after that and James McCarthy was free. James then marries Alice Turner