1950s Popular Culture in America Scavenger Hunt

Using the Internet, find as many of the items relating to popular culture in the 1950s as you can. In the chart below you should check off which items you find and cite the source you used for each item (NO Wikipedia!). Make sure your citations are a direct link to the page where you found your information, not simply a link to the website's homepage. This task should help to enhance your research skills and also give you a better understanding of American lifestyle in the 1950s. The first person to complete the hunt (with accuracy) will receive a prize of unbelievable value! Happy hunting!
