

Handwritten cursive text on a set of three horizontal lines. The text is written in a fluid, connected script. The first two lines contain the main body of text, and the third line contains a large, decorative flourish that extends downwards. There are two small black dots above the first two lines of text.

Handwritten cursive text on a set of three horizontal lines. The text is written in a fluid, connected script. The first two lines contain the main body of text, and the third line contains a large, decorative flourish that extends downwards.