John woke up in his hotel in Paris and looked at his alarm clock. It was 8:30. It was late! He had a flight to Milan at 10:00 and an important meeting with Signor Rossi. He didn't have time to have a shower. He got dressed quickly, didn't eat any breakfast, packed his bag and hurried downstairs. As he checked out of the hotel, the receptionist gave him a message but he didn't look at it. He put it in his pocket, ran out of the hotel and got into a taxi. The traffic on the way to the airport was terrible and the taxi cost a lot of money. He didn't arrive at the airport until ten past ten. He checked in, showed his boarding pass, announced and rushed to the plane. He got on the plane just in time. He found his seat and sat down. Five minutes later the plane took off. He remembered the message in his pocket. He took it out and read it. It was from his secretary and the message was: "Don't go to Milan today!"
