Dear Sir/Madam:

I am interested in applying for the position of Loan Officer which was advertised in the Bangkok Post recently. I believe my 3-year experience in working in business Administration and my educational background qualify me for the post.

I am a 29-year old, single, Thai male. I graduated from the Faculty of Business Administration at Bangkok University with a Bachelor's degree in 1998 and completed a Master's in Finance at Thammasat University in 2000. I am fluent in English and have a reasonable command of Mandarin Chinese. I also have good MS-Office skill and am familiar with most computerized programs. After I graduated, I worked as a loan officer staff at Thai Farmers Bank for three years. My major responsibilities were marketing, credit and analysis skills. I was then promoted to be a loan officer in 2002. I have had 3 years professional experience in application and corporate lending. However, I would like to work for a large international banking as this would give me good chance for career development.

If you require further information, please contact me at the address mentioned above. I am available for an interview at your convenience and look forward to hearing from you soon.

Yours faithfully,
~~David Wang~~
