Formulating your question:

- Does the paper focus on a specific article or paragraph?

- Is it an open text, including professional body knowledge?

- Are all four paragraphs relevant?

- Do you need the essay and answer the following questions, whether or not in all cases and from propositional learning material that provided.

Introduction

- Does the essay focus on a specific topic? Does the focus give enough insight? Does it make the reader curious or engaged with the topic?

- Does the introduction provide relevant background information?

- Does the paper focus on a specific, clear theme? Can it be argued that it has a clear connection to the introduction?

Body

- Are there three body paragraphs with three different topics?
