I'm Thankful For...

Thanksgiving is a holiday where people give thanks for all the things they have. Although we can be thankful for the material things we have, such as our Nintendo Wii and our Pokémon Card collections, the things we should really be thankful for are things that we cannot touch.

Write something you are thankful for and the reason:

I'm thankful for _____ because _____

Who is one person you are thankful for? _____

Write something you could do to show that person your gratitude:

When people are thankful, they often volunteer (at soup kitchens or working with homeless people) and help out people who have less than they do. If you were to volunteer, what type of place would you like to volunteer at? What would you do? Please write your answer on the next page.

To show thanks for what I have, I want to volunteer at soup kitchen to give food to people who don't have much.
