Day #1:

1. Distribute large newsprint to every student.
2. Demonstrate folding one-third of the paper over the middle section. Students should copy this on their own paper. Tell students that they should not crease the paper until you have instructed each student to do so individually. As soon as you see that the paper is exhibit approximately a one-third fold, tap the student to press the paper into a crease. Students need to prepare their narrative graphic organizers on their own. It may take a little practice, but they will be independent and successful.
