

The Darkglass Extravaganza

Show every move the character makes. This may be related to objects in the room or external to the character that affect what something or someone does/feels.

Task 1

Copy these lines into your book. This will be the beginning of a story that you must complete.

Task 2

Tell the story up with the body moving from the upstairs to the living room and describe what the child is doing off only these words.

Task 3

Your final task is to develop it into a complete story. You may use this as inspiration on an A4-sized page.

Remember:

- o Plan your story in your exercise book. First, then copy it into your computer.
- o Use this prompt sheet to help you make the story as descriptive as possible.
- o Always check for spelling and grammar.