

Combining Sentences with Appositives

1. John Stuart wanted to start a newspaper. John Stewart is a writer.

2. My sister drives a company car. My sister is a supervisor.

3. Elkie Fern led the kids on a nature hike. Elkie Fern is an environmentalist.

4. Paul Revere is famous for his midnight ride. Paul Revere was a silversmith.

Choose the best way to combine these sentences.

Mrs. Smith made me a cake. Mrs. Smith is my mother.

Suzy loves to go for walks in the park. Suzy is my pet terrier.

- A. Mrs. Smith made me a cake, she is my mother.
- B. Mrs. Smith, my mother, made me a cake.
- C. Mrs. Smith my mother made me a cake.
- D. Mrs. Smith made me a cake and she is my mother.
- E. Suzy loves to go for walks in the park, she is my pet terrier.
- F. Suzy, my pet terrier loves to go for walks in the park.
- G. Suzy, my pet terrier, loves to go for walks in the park.
- H. Suzy is my pet terrier, and she loves to go for walks in the park.