

26. On May 26, 1805 Meriwether Lewis got his first view of the Rocky Mountains. "I felt a secret pleasure in finding myself so near the head of the heretofore conceived boundless Missouri," he wrote in his journal.