

Meet Lewis and Clark. These men lead a very significant expedition to the Pacific coast from 1804-1806. Their expedition lead the way for future settlement of the West. They also learned valuable scientific information about animals, plants, and geography along the way!

