

What is this boy looking at? How do you think he feels?

What probably caused the window to break?

Who do you think did this?