

Author's Purpose

Name: _____

1. Happy birthday to me! Oh, how I love birthdays! What should I buy with the dollar bills that are flowing out of my pockets? Mom says I should save one-third of the money, donate another one-third, and keep one-third to spend as I wish. I just want to spend it all, you know? However, my friend at school never gets money for his birthday. Maybe I could donate one-third of my birthday money to him. Or I could save some of the money until after Christmas to spend just in case I don't get everything I asked for. What would you do?

What is the author's purpose of this writing?

- A to persuade       B to express personal feelings
 C to inform       D to entertain

The author is showing that

- A birthdays are great times to collect presents.
 B it's important to manage your money.
 C friends at school don't have birthday parties.
 D Christmas is an important holiday for getting presents.

2. All third grade classes will be going on a field trip on Thursday, October 17. Students will travel to Dunn State Park. There they will split into groups. Each group will go on a nature hike with a park ranger. After the hike, the groups will meet at the picnic area for lunch. Each student should bring a sack lunch from home or money to buy a sack lunch from the school lunchroom. Students will return to school before dismissal. Please sign and return this form by Wednesday, October 16.

What is the author's purpose of this writing?

- A to inform       B to persuade
 C to entertain       D to express personal feelings

This paragraph was most likely written for _____.

- A parents
 B students
 C park rangers
 D teachers

3. Leo peered down into the water. His ears twitched with excitement. There it was! The fish saw him too and quickly swam away. Leo bent over for a closer look. He felt the tips of his whiskers dance across the water's surface. It was a harsh reminder of the cruel obstacle blocking him from his prey.

What is the author's purpose of this writing?

- A to persuade       B to inform
 C to entertain       D to express personal feelings

The author does not say it, but you can guess that Leo is a _____.

- A boy
 B cat
 C fish
 D bee