

Learning an abstract scientific process and how to get across that is big question that comes in every period that is covered. Learning those details about differences in the process of studying in general and learning English language in particular built at individual app. Attitude ... individual plays an important role in English acquisition.

How do the different individuals contribute to the attitude which comes out into learning world as a result of their earlier ideas in their? (1999). However, individuals in every class has different styles of learning, different. We experience as motivating is a challenge all teachers face. In every class there students which are the ones of learning that different individuals talk, stand, have to encourage them to study by finding suitable methods to make them get more interested in the subject.

Finally, we need to mention about the concept of learning that acquisition of learning. There are several reasons that influence English learning process:

The students' level: students who has low knowledge/background have more to get learned with the class, they find them difficult to take the subject and keep up with others.

Treatment method: if there are too much things in the subject that they've learned or what students need to learn, it also creates learning study interruption.

Teacher class: classes which get teacher talk and students listen just give us low result in learning.

Generally, to reduce these difficulties, teachers need to apply some solutions to motivate the student. The motivation level of them is, for instance, thereby getting them interested again in their teacher and the interest in your subject matter and their activities will soon follow. Students always be friendly with learning students, simply so that they will suggest constructive ideas. If they respect you, they will respect the class, and be motivated to participate in whatever you give. Details in English, motivation can be developed through some activities. If the teacher can build and don't make the subject interesting, then the children often don't like the class either. To keep yourself motivated, change your activities to things that you are excited about. Teachers have to try to communicate with student, explain it clearly, don't be afraid to talk about your interests, outside of school. An example, if possible, use some type of media as a lot of your students, bring in some CD's and let them listen to music whenever they are working on projects. When you see work are in
