

A poem to

A large rectangular area of graph paper with a light gray background and a fine grid of small dots. The grid is composed of small squares, with a slightly larger square in the top-left corner. The grid extends across most of the page, leaving a margin at the top and bottom.

