

Adjective Clauses

How to make them

Reduce the second clause to make an adjective clause.

Example: The man went to the police after he lost his credit card.
The man who lost his credit card went to the police.

1. The man went to Toronto, and he was a gangster.
 2. People shouldn't throw stones if they live in glass houses.
 3. The girl went to UBC, and she worried about success.
 4. The dog was excited after it found a dead man.
 5. The book belongs to John, and it was stolen.
 6. Bill met George. George's father was in the mafia.
 7. The dog's name was Gypsy, and Sally bought it.
 8. The girl is dancing with John. I love her.
 9. There is the girl. Her parents live in Spuzzum.
 10. Where is the girl? I gave her my pen.
 11. There is the building; there was a robbery in it.
 12. George visited the museum, and there were many famous statues there.
 13. I like countries if the weather is warm there.
 14. Toronto is the stop, and I get out there.
 15. I don't like that shop because the clerk is unfriendly there.
-