

Give this cards to your pupils, let them read the cards and then they will tell the story of Snow White from their point of view.

You are Snow White.

You were happy when though you lived just with your dad. Your mom died a long time ago. Then your father remarried.

Your step mother was really bad. She showed to you. She was mean. You ran away and you found a small tree.

It was dark, so you lit a fire. You lived happily with seven dwarfs. You stole an apple from a nice old lady and you died.

A young prince came and kissed you. You are alive now and you are in love with him. You will get married soon.
