

Reflections August 2011 (English)

This was my first experience teaching English to 14-16 year olds because I never was old enough for me to actually feel anything more as a teacher. So, the main focus was presentation stage. My teacher gave a lot of comments and I think I should find ways to improve myself.

My strength was in technology implementation which was teaching and then allowed to present the content of learning. This is because of making presentation and giving words. Pupils can recognize the typical formula looking at the pictures and read the names of food with the correct pronunciation.

My weakness was in my oral English because I have a lot of grammar and not in giving the instructions. Therefore, pupils were not paying attention when I talked to them sometimes, pupils can do not know what I'm talking about because I am not speak in simple language to help them to understand.

I have to practice a lot to build my oral communication by using the simple language for example for pupils. Before this, I tend to give a simple instructions to them and want more the students. There was a moment that I'm thinking about how I have to treat them which is English. So, I have to practice their skill and encourage them more than before.
