

"Thinking Outside the Box" - written by Matthew Adamello, 10th

started in thinking about, tapping her foot and glancing at the clock every several days.

Teacher: Monday, I could have let this pass.

Student:

Ben: Was she being nice to me? She used to speak about me all day.

Teacher: The night, to help with it's special needs? It's learning the notes.

Student Reaction and Stage:

Question: Was she being nice to me? She used to speak about me all day.

Teacher: I know, it's hard. When you're using learning that you're not.

Teacher: Was she being nice to me? She used to speak about me all day.

Question: Was she being nice to me?

Teacher: I know, it's hard.

Ben: Was she being nice to me? She used to speak about me all day.

Teacher: Was she being nice to me? She used to speak about me all day.

Ben: Is she being nice to me? She used to speak about me all day.

Teacher: Is she being nice to me? She used to speak about me all day.

Question: Was she being nice to me? She used to speak about me all day.

Ben: Was she being nice to me? She used to speak about me all day.

Teacher: Was she being nice to me? She used to speak about me all day.

Ben: Was she being nice to me? She used to speak about me all day.

Teacher: Was she being nice to me? She used to speak about me all day.

Ben: Was she being nice to me? She used to speak about me all day.

Question: Was she being nice to me? She used to speak about me all day.

Teacher: Was she being nice to me? She used to speak about me all day.