You Can't Judge a Book by Its Cover...
But Can You Judge a Book by Its First Line?

Please just pretend from a visit to my homeland - the military neighborhood I should be involved with.

Answer the following questions, basing your answer on the sentence above.

1. What do you think the book is likely to be about? What led you to this prediction?

2. What kind of book do you expect it will be in mystery, a romance...?

3. What is the book's writing (contemporary or historical, city or country, etc.)?

4. Who is the book's author likely to be?

5. Do you think you would be interested in reading this book? Why or why not?

6. The proverb is a hint to determine the title and author of the book from what its first line may tell us:
TITLE _____
AUTHOR _____
