

Praxis II Content Test

Useful information for students and their education advisors

This document can be viewed at <http://www.uww.edu/coe/advising/licensure/tests.html>

Prepared by Tom Ganser, Ph.D.
Director, Office of Field Experiences
University of Wisconsin-Whitewater

April 2008

This document is intended to provide useful information for students and their education advisor with important information regarding the Praxis II Content Test.

PART ONE: General information on preparing for the Praxis II Content Test

PART TWO: Preparing to re-take the Praxis II Content Test after having failed it

PART THREE: Options for students who have not passed the Praxis II Content Test

PART ONE

General information on preparing for the Praxis II Content Test

1. The Praxis II Content Test is developed by Educational Testing Services (ETS). The website for ETS is <http://www.ets.org>. Unlike the Praxis I / PPST test, the Praxis II test is NOT available in a computer-based format.
2. Be sure that you know the correct Praxis II test for your major and, if applicable, for your minor. The Praxis II test for your major is indicated on your Application for Admission to Professional Education. For information about whether or not you need to pass a Praxis II test for your minor see your education advisor.
3. Be sure you know the Praxis II deadline for your projected student teaching semester and for test registration. Evidence that you have passed the correct Praxis II test for your major is a requirement for student teaching, graduate practicum, or graduate inservice practicum.