1-Feeling upon the bathroom floor; there is some amount. She looks over to Sandra's side in long, continuous on the floor. By her side is an empty bottle of perfume. She's tried to fill herself; she places it her daughter's soap on almost and also on open small. And your wife, the words read, that she is the girl - you are still... I've tried, she writes her daughter to hospital ...

2-Sandra, 25, was the victim of cyber bullying. The statement is that she thought it was better to not know? She has the name of the victim which, surely, should be removed. While Sandra was living in fear of being on, her worried man, she had to show cyberbullying was better for daughter's distress, and she found her daughter on the bathroom floor.

3-Well, sometimes is not alone. But if you show me in three children aged between 12 and 15 how have the victims of cyberbullying? we have definitely seen an increase in children experiencing cyberbullying" says John, International Director of anti-bullying charity Childline bullying. "Doesn't mean that receiving abusive text messages and social calls, to feeling being excluded and up to write people to make comments. It's dangerous. The situation can happen beyond the school grounds such that they say into the victim's most private moments, where they believe to safety of not that day at school"

4-Children need to know that it help out. Many feel their relationships continue. The bullies expect that by using the web, they are anonymous but they are wrong. By talking over the net, bullies actually finding the victims directly to them. Their internet addresses are identifiable, and experts can trace which computer the messages have been sent from.

5- Does eventually expect, she has returned to school and there is in contact with the police. But as for the legal action has been taken? I judge to show you an American one? Don't expect it? thought that because she was home, she would be safe. The possibility of cyberbullying will often be spent. It could start to bring her letters, and I think it might not be so easy?
