

Action verbs are classified as transitive or intransitive.

- Transitive verbs cannot complete their meaning without the help of a direct object.
- Intransitive verbs do not take a direct object, or to put it another way, they do not need an object to complete their meaning.