

Directions: Read each item and write a literary analysis. Write if it has been taught in the textbook. Write elsewhere. Write if you disagree or if you're unsure. Write your answer on the line indicated.

1. In Hamlet, the prince, Hamlet, is overthinking. What happens as a result of this?

.....

2. How are the themes of integrity, freedom, love, and the role of the individual in society well served in Hamlet and why?

.....

3. What is the main conflict in the play? How does this play of opposing and opposing sides affect the overall message of the play?

.....

4. How is the play's structure and style related to the themes? How does the play's structure and style affect the overall message of the play?

.....

5. Why does the play end in tragedy? What does this tell us about the world of Hamlet and why?

.....

6. How is the play's setting related to the themes of integrity, freedom, love, and the role of the individual in society? How does the play's setting affect the overall message of the play?

.....

7. How is the play's language related to the themes of integrity, freedom, love, and the role of the individual in society? How does the play's language affect the overall message of the play?

.....

8. How is the play's structure related to the themes of integrity, freedom, love, and the role of the individual in society? How does the play's structure affect the overall message of the play?

.....

9. How are the themes of integrity, freedom, love, and the role of the individual in society well served in Hamlet and why?

.....