

An action verb tells what a person or thing does.

Batty About Verbs

Recognizing action verbs

Help CJ and Edison make their way through these bats to get to the jewel room. Circle all the verbs below.

Example:

CJ Says:

Your whole family can join you and your child in this fun game of Verb Charades. To begin, get 12 or more slips of paper and write a verb on each one. Use words that describe distinctive actions, such as build, crawl, throw, paint, and sing. Place the slips of paper in a lunch bag. Then let family members take turns drawing a slip of paper from the bag and pantomiming the action while the other players guess the verb.
