

Real-life heroes and heroines

1. Find out which real-life heroes and heroines each text is referring to:

A - Anne Frank B - Pope Pius XII C - Mother Teresa D - Ray Ryan E - Nelson Mandela

The new film Agnes tells the story of a young woman, on August 17, 1943, on the eve of death, she felt the call of God. She knew she had to do something to spread the love of Christ.

From 1945 to 1950 she taught at St. Mary's School in Chicago, but the poverty she saw outside the convent made her leave the convent school and devote herself to helping bring the poorest of the poor of Chicago. Although she had no funds, she self-financed and started an orphan school for needy children that she was joined by volunteers and together they lived and cared for those who include school leavers.

The greatest political death threat she received was on July 28, 1948.

She is still leading the fight against apartheid with extraordinary vigor. After spending nearly three decades of his life in prison for participating in anti-apartheid activities and his youth for the rights of his people, and receive youth Africa's post-war and freedom.

The opposite of what is often to study people because he is an almost perfect example of the life of the spirit. He was considered a genius. But he had to learn patience and to work to perfect his art. He studied all his life. It was his focus that bring and his greatest joy. He was always studying. Learning, he was the changed printing and sculpture to make that artist say that there is no before and no after art.

Several months ago she died in a concentration camp in Germany. Her stories about her family living from Hitler to a better day were published a year.

Even when she was hiding, she was always writing. She never gave up hope, and she's the reason she did.

By writing her famous diary, she helped the world understand that there is nothing more hated in the world than her. Her diary, undoubtedly her.

Anne Frank is a girl because she was optimistic, patient, cheerful, and strong. For today, she has been someone to look up to.

She was not afraid of her conscience, but she's open. She has positive which had taken her a long way. Faith, intellect and to help with everything.

The main reason why was a woman with a dream becoming an actress. After five or six years she made it to the big screen. After many bad days she had great success and in her successful career. But they didn't change her and although she has experienced life, she kept her heart on Broadway.