

Appendix B (continued)

Appendix B

Topic Sentence and Inferred/Implied Main Point

Using the Center for Writing Excellence and Multicultural resources provide the topic sentence and inferred/implied for your Personal Ethics Statement.

1. Topic sentence:

Topic sentence: Many people seem to not realize that your ethical perspective is very important and it can affect your professional as well as your personal life. Ethics is an important life skill that helps "navigate" situations between acceptable and unacceptable behaviors. Many people have these ethics or "morals" at home, at school, or in another social setting. It is important to have a positive ethical perspective regardless you are at.

2. Inferred/implied:

introductory paragraph

Many people do not realize that your ethical perspective is very important and it can affect your professional as well as your personal life. Ethics is an important life skill that helps "navigate" situations between acceptable and unacceptable behaviors. Many people have these ethics or "morals" at home, at school, or in another social setting. It is important to have a positive ethical perspective regardless you are at.

body paragraph 1st

There are many forms of good/professional ethics that people can follow.

body paragraph 2nd

Good ethical can help you to not only your professional life but as well as your personal life.

body paragraph 3rd

Everybody wants good ethics in order to advance in anything they want to do and know that they can do the job or anything else for that reason it is possible why with no problems.

conclusion

In conclusion, a lot of people think they know that good ethics or "morals" are not needed in the workplace and life in a different setting. Good ethics helps you to be successful and unacceptable behaviors in any kind of setting you are in. If you always have a good ethical perspective then you will not get in or the ethics in course or your education, professional life, or personal life. Always remember that having a good ethical perspective and help you advance in career/ life in your life.