

Henry: Are you ready to go car shopping, B?

Bellezza: Why don't you check out the Internet first?

Henry: It's not the same. I need to smell the car, touch it, feel it.

Bellezza: You are really sick, Henry.

Henry: But you're right. I should [browse the Internet to see what kinds of deals to expect.

Bellezza: I would start with <http://www.autotrader.com/> You can see tons of used and almost-new cars there.

Henry: Is that where you found your old [car?

Bellezza: [Proudly] The one you beg me to drive all the time? As a matter of fact, yes!

Henry: I can't believe a girl is giving me advice on car shopping.

Bellezza: Not even in, pig. The [most convenient thing to do [guess].

Henry: OK. You lead the way to "Car land," and I will follow.

Bellezza: Do you have an idea of what you want?

Henry: My dreams and my reality are [light-years apart!

Bellezza: Let's start with your dream car.

Henry: Honda S2000, Infinity QX6-Coupe, Nissan 300ZX, Acura NSX...

Bellezza: Now tell me your practical needs.

Henry: I need a car that is [reliable, easy to fix, and cheap.

Bellezza: I think you should look at a car that gets [good gas mileage.

Henry: True, that's part of what I meant by cheap.

Bellezza: For example, you could get a [hybrid and get fifty miles per gallon.

Henry: But they're [pricy and they don't look so...well, HOT.

Bellezza: He-he, I know it. Hot girls, hot cars. Boys will be boys.

Henry: You have to realize that I haven't driven a car in years. I've been in Asia taking the subway.