

The Little Seagull Handbook, Outline Three

1.100 (100-27)

5.1 Complete Sentences

Identify sentence parts of a sentence.

5.1a Elements of a Sentence

Subjects and predicates

- Sentence consists of subject and a predicate.
- Subject usually WHO or WHAT, answers who of the sentence.
- Predicate, always includes DOES, says what the subject DOES.
- Subject and predicate each may contain only one word.
 - Usually contain more than one word.
- Sentence may contain more than one subject or verb.
 - It never has subject before the verb.

Representing subjects explicitly

- English requires an explicit subject in every STATEMENT, even if it's all about the same subject.
- Only exception to this rule, the subject is understood or you.
- Some have subject before the verb and an OBJECT AFTER—there is a—comes before the verb.
 - It can also replace verb and verbing phrases.
- English does not emphasize a subject by repeating it in the same clause.

Clauses

- Group of words containing a subject and predicate.
- Independent clause can function alone as a sentence.
- Subordinate clause begins with a RELATIVE PRONOUN, WHICH, WHEN, WHERE, WHY, HOW, or WHICH.
 - It never stand alone as a sentence.

Phrases

- Word group that is not a subject, a verb, or both and cannot stand alone as a sentence.
- Prepositional phrases, participial phrases and infinitive phrases.
 - Prepositional phrase—starts with a PREPOSITION, can never stand alone as a sentence.
 - Appositive phrase—follows and gives additional information about a noun or pronoun, functions as noun.
 - Participial phrase—contains the present or past participle of a verb + any OBJECT, ADJECTIVE, ADVERB, and COMPLEMENT.
 - Infinitive phrase—includes any form of a verb plus any objects, modifiers, and complements, functions as noun.
 - Relative phrase—includes relative (or a form form of a verb) and any objects, modifiers, and complements.

5.2 Sentence Fragments

- Often show up in advertising.
- Usually intended to grab and grab messages.
- Sentence begin with and with are fragments.

5.3 Advertising Fragments

- Sentence fragments—a group of words that is not a subject and not a predicate or a sentence that is not a sentence.
 - Sentence starts at least with WHO or WHAT, contains DOES and DOES, and never ends with and or with are.
- List of common advertising words.