

Boat Island: Survival Game

You are on the ground with 1000 dollars. Let's not use the word of the public sector, when a storm hit a storm showed up. The ship capsized, and the passengers of the ship are stranded here in the middle deep waters. Luckily, you, and several other passengers, are strong swimmers, and managed to get to a nearby island. The passengers had with them a survival kit with 1000 dollars, but the kit contained a small supply of food. However, the contents of the survival kit, including the food, were not as they expected. There is not enough food for everyone. The best choice was to leave your group (should be given the food). Who do you want to stay healthy and strong? Why?

Game: There is food for 5 people. Your group must decide about 5 people should be given the food, and be prepared to explain why.
