

Topic Sentence

This sentence usually comes at the beginning of the paragraph.

This sentence tells your reader what the paragraph is about.

This important sentence introduces your reader to the paragraph.

Supporting Details

These sentences always stick to the topic.

These sentences give interesting and important details that support and explain your topic sentence.

Concluding Sentence

This sentence gives a summary of what the paragraph is about.

This sentence closes the paragraph.

This sentence is not just a repeat of the topic sentence.