
A categorical variable places an individual into one of several groups or categories (these categories have no numerical values).

Describe some categorical variables?

A quantitative variable takes numerical values for which arithmetic operations such as adding and averaging make sense (quantitative variables are considered continuous...decimals make sense).

Describe some quantitative variables?