SPRING READING

Read the passage then answer each question.

As the morning sun rose higher in the sky, the meadow came alive with the colors and sounds of spring. Cherry blossoms danced delicately in the breeze, their petals scattering like confetti across the grass. Birds chirped joyfully, crafting melodies that seemed to echo the cheer of the season. Nearby, a gentle stream sparkled under the sunlight, its waters reflecting the vibrant greens of fresh leaves and the playful dash of dragonflies. A young girl named Lila wandered through the meadow with a small wicker basket. She paused by a patch of blooming wildflowers, gathering daisies, tulips, and buttercups to weave into a garland. As she placed the garland on her head, she smiled, feeling the magic of spring all around her.

1. Describe the scene by the stream.
2. Name two things that illustrate the theme of spring in the passage.
3. How does Lila feel about the spring meadow?
4. What is Lila collecting in her basket, and what does she do with them?
5. What kind of trees are mentioned in the passage?
