The diagram is a plot structure template. It consists of a central box at the top. From the bottom-left corner of this box, a diagonal line extends down to the top-right corner of the first box in a vertical column of six boxes on the left. From the bottom-right corner of the central box, a diagonal line extends down to the top-left corner of a large box on the right. The vertical column of boxes on the left is connected by diagonal lines between each box. Below the large box on the right is another rectangular box.
