WORKING DOGS

Working dogs are animals that have jobs. These animals are trained to help people. They protect people. They also perform other jobs that help people in different ways. Some dogs are trained to rescue other dogs and people. They help find people who are lost or trapped. Other dogs help people who are blind or have other physical challenges. Seeing-eye dogs help their owners cross streets safely. Other dogs help people who are physically challenged. Dogs become working dogs when they are specially trained and given jobs to do.
