Back to School

On the first day of school, Mia woke up early feeling both excited and nervous. She had a new backpack, new shoes, and a fresh notebook ready for the new school year. When she arrived at school, she saw many familiar faces and some new students in her class. Her teacher greeted everyone with a big smile and introduced a fun icebreaker activity.

During the activity, students shared their favorite hobbies and summer experiences. Mia talked about her trip to the beach and how she learned to swim. She also listened to her classmates and discovered that many of them loved sports, drawing, and reading. By the end of the day, Mia felt happy because she had already made two new friends.
