THE FIRST NATIONS PEOPLE

First Nations are Indigenous peoples who have lived in Canada for thousands of years. There are many different First Nations groups, and each has its own language, traditions, and way of life.

Long ago, First Nations people lived close to nature. They hunted, fished, gathered plants, and worked together to care for their communities. Some groups lived in forests, while others lived near rivers, lakes, or grasslands.

Today, First Nations people continue to celebrate their cultures through music, art, storytelling, and special ceremonies. Many First Nations communities work to protect their traditions and teach younger generations about their history.

First Nations people are an important part of Canada's past and present.
