Bunny Rabbit and the King of the Beasts

Bunny Rabbit loved playing tricks on other animals.
The King of Beasts became angry and told Fox to bring Bunny Rabbit to him.

Fox found Bunny Rabbit, but Bunny Rabbit tricked him with a tree full of apples.
Fox spent all night eating apples and forgot about Bunny Rabbit.

The King then sent Coyote to find Fox.
Fox lied and said Bunny Rabbit was in his stomach. He told Coyote to get some herbs.
Coyote went to find the herbs but stayed all night eating them.

Next, the King sent Piñon Jay Bird. The bird quickly found Bunny Rabbit and brought him to the King.

The King said he would eat Bunny Rabbit. Bunny Rabbit replied,
"First, let me show you where some fat prairie dogs are."

Bunny Rabbit led the King to a hunter's trap. The trap caught the King's foot, and Bunny Rabbit escaped.

As he ran away, Bunny Rabbit called, "Enjoy the prairie dogs, King of Beasts!"
