

Name: _____

Date: _____

Native American History

Native Americans are the first people who lived in North America. Long ago, different tribes lived across the land. Each tribe had its own language, traditions, clothing, and way of life. Some lived in forests, while others lived on plains, deserts, or near rivers. They used natural resources to build homes, make tools, hunt, and grow crops like corn, beans, and squash.

Storytelling was an important part of Native American culture. Elders shared stories to teach lessons and pass traditions to younger generations. Today, Native American communities continue to celebrate their cultures through art, music, dance, language, and special events. Their history and traditions remain an important part of American heritage.

Questions:

1. Who were the first people to live in North America?

2. What is a tribe?

3. Name one place where Native American tribes lived.

4. What crops did many Native Americans grow?

5. Why was storytelling important?
