A BASKET OF APPLES

On a crisp fall morning, Mia and her grandmother visit a small apple orchard. They each carry an empty basket and walk between rows of apple trees. Mia carefully picks red, yellow, and green apples. Her grandmother teaches her to choose apples that are ripe and free from bruises.

Soon, their baskets are full. They take the apples home to make sweet apple pie and fresh apple juice. Mia enjoys helping in the kitchen. She thinks fall is the best season because it is the perfect time to pick delicious apples with her grandmother.
