A Visit to the Community Garden

Last Saturday, Mia visited the community garden with her grandfather. The garden was filled with colorful flowers, green vegetables, and small fruit trees. Mia helped her grandfather water the plants and pull weeds. After working, they sat under a large tree and ate fresh strawberries.

Her grandfather explained that people in the neighborhood cared for the garden together. Everyone helped keep it clean and healthy. Mia enjoyed the visit because she learned how plants grow and how people can work together to care for their community.
